Why and How Jews Leave Palestine for Russia

By Louis Fischer

Special Jewish Telegraphic Agency Correspondence in Russia
Copyright, 1923, by Jewish Correspondence Bureau

During the last three months there has been a steady and ever-increasing emigration from Western and White Russia into Palestine. No Zionist agitation gives this movement impetus or inspiration; in fact, it seems that if there were any Zionists in these districts they would discourage Jews from leaving because of the problems of transportation; the difficulties in obtaining permission to depart from Russia, and the dangers and expense of the journey through Russia, from Russia through Turkey and from Turkey to Palestine, as a result of which so much energy is dissipated, so many lives lost, and so much enthusiasm cooled before any purpose is accomplished.

But nothing deters the emigrants. The centre of the movement is the city of Homel. It now encompasses Mohilev, Mosier, Bobruisk and the surrounding territory and is beginning to infect Minsk, the capital of White Russia.

When I discussed the question with Rabbi Borischansky, of Homel, who himself would probably stem the tide if he could do so, and if he had the right, he quoted from the Genesis story of Hagar. She left the home of Abraham, her master, knowing the terrors of thirst, hunger and wild beast which the wilderness had in store for her, and realizing the gravity of taking young Ishmael into the desert, but she went despite it all because there was no other escape—she had to flee from Sarah, her rich mistress. So it is in this region of Western Russia, especially in Homel. Economic conditions are exceedingly bad. A person well-dressed is a rare sight in Homel, and the majority of the population are clothed in garments that are little more than rags, patched and re-patched. The city is too far from the border to benefit by the trade that is carried on with Poland; many people are unemployed; artisans must close their workshops and merchants their stores. Ask the average citizen what is the cause of all the distress and he will tell you that it is due to the burdensome taxation which the government has imposed.

The movement constantly gains momentum. It began in a small trickle about a year ago and in the last quarter-year it has become an appreciable stream. In the past six weeks, 1,000 Jews are estimated to have departed from Homel on their way to Palestine. While in Homel I was told that 400 are preparing to leave in the near future, and representative individuals whose word, I think, could be trusted, were of the opinion that the flow was only beginning.

The authorities in Homel and in the vicinity are considering taking legal steps to prevent further emigration. They may make it impossibly difficult for men and women to obtain their passports. It was stated in the "Emess" that they might go to the root of the problem and decrease taxes. But a mass gathers momentum as it proceeds and one must raise serious doubts as to whether any obstacles will interrupt the movement in the near future.

The emigrants usually go from Western and White Russia by way of the Ukraine to the Caucasus. It is easier to obtain the visa to leave Russia from the Georgian Government than elsewhere. The ordinary route is to ship from Batoum on the Black Sea to Constantinople and thence to Beirut, Haifa, Jaffa or Alexandria. But the task is much more complicated when carried out in life than when set down on paper. Few of these Palestinians-to-be have sufficient resources for the journey. So many must stop for months in the Ukraine and there try to earn enough money to carry them on for another stage of the journey.

The same difficulty presents itself in the Caucasus. Of late, the Georgian authorities have become more strict about granting permits to leave the country, and the Turkish Consul is not as ready to hand out transit visas as he was previously. The emigrants become refugees and live in direst distress. Unaccustomed to the climate, they succumb to malaria. A trained observer travelling in the Caucasus for one of the American relief organizations told me that during the last year 700 of these emigrants died from various diseases. Many of them walk through the mountain regions and are massacred by the bandits with which they are infested. Last year a group of 16 young men from Minsk reached Rostov on the Don, and then took to the hill paths. Nothing has been heard of them since. A goodly percentage of the people, when they finally get to Constantinople, if they ever do, become objects of charity. Demoralization follows.

It is interesting that of all the persons who left Homel for Palestine during the last year, not one has reached Palestine—at least no notification of his arrival there has come to Homel. I was assured that the moment the Homelites began corresponding from Palestine with their relatives, friends and acquaintances at home, the stream of emigration would be doubled. And what, I asked, if the information they sent was unfavorable? What if they find no work and wrote of their disappointment generally? No one would be discouraged, came the reply.

It must be stated, for the sake of an accurate and complete impression that the driving force of this emigration is negative rather than positive. These people are few of them Zionists. Many wend their way to America from Constantinople. They would go to the United States through Poland or Latvia, if they could. But in addition to an exodus of Jews which has its roots in economic conditions to the exclusion of almost everything else, there is a purely idealistic emigration of persons who might be termed Chaluzim if there were a Chaluzim organization or movement in Russia.

THE CANADIAN NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY

The A. McKim, Limited, Advertising Agency has just issued the 1923 Canadian Newspaper Directory. This is the sixteenth edition of this comprehensive directory of Canadian Publications and Gazetteer. The first edition was published in 1892 when many Canadian papers, now recognized as great influences in moulding the country's destiny, were weak, struggling enterprises. The Canadian Newspaper Directory has kept step with the great advance made by Canadian publications. Each edition has been in advance of the previous issue. New features have been introduced, geographical physical and commercial. In fact, the book serves as a commercial gazetteer for all Canada and is on the desk of practically every national advertiser.

"Silence at Sea"

Story From the Yiddish

BY L. SCHAPIRO

(Translated by Hannah Berman)

Over the sea the day burned in all its beauty. The mighty blue bosom was still heaving, up and down, after the heavy, restless night. But with every perceptible movement of the sun in the heavens the waters grew calmer and calmer. A wide roadway of snow-white foam, flecked with green and blue, drew itself out from behind our ship, and was lost in the radiant, golden distance. From all sides the sun looked at us. And our ship was the centre-point of the universe.

Among the passengers there was gradually evolved a network of sympathies and mysteries. People whom life on board ship had thrown together for the first time, and perhaps the last, became fast friends. They sought to stand well in one another's eyes, and talked scandal. A young couple looked for solitude. The history of the world began again, right from the beginning.

Meanwhile, the day grew older. From an indefinite stripling, it grew to full stature—a serious being that knew what it wanted. Later it was like an elderly man who realized what was awaiting him, and was prepared to accept the inevitable with equanimity. . . . The sun had gone through three-fourths of its possible course, and its face was become somewhat redder and tired-looking. The waters were almost entirely stilled.

And then something happened.

A passenger bent over the rail, stood in position for some time, and then lowered himself slowly into the water, without a word, without a sound. It happened so calmly, so naturally, that for the first moment the passengers who stood near did not realize what had actually taken place.

For a whole hour the sailors rowed about in a boat, looking for the drowned man. They came back empty-handed, tired and harassed.

Who was he? . . . Everyone had noticed something, but no one had seen anything. The passengers rushed up on deck in a thick, silent mass, like frightened sheep. The purser, a tall, handsome young man, with large, moist black eyes, stood before the crowd, the list of passengers in his hand. He called out various names, to which the people answered nervously and hastily. "John Clifford." "Paolo Bernardini." "Moses Weinstein." At each new name, as it was answered to, the tension grew and grew. . . . "Janko Ravitz!"

Silence.

"Janko Ravitz!"

No answer. The purser turned pale. A pair of cold wings fluttered over the deck of the ship . . .

"Jan-ko Ra-a-vitz!" . . . The purser called out again in a hoarse, smothered voice. We caught up the name. And the two words, "Janko Ravitz," were carried above our heads, were echoed in every corridor, in every cabin, and for some time they floated over the whole ship, but always duller and feebler and more hopelessly. . . . And for a long time we looked down at the calm sea.

Thus had disappeared from the world "Janko Ravitz" . . . And, no more. From the ship's books it was discovered that he was forty-seven years of age, and had come from Belgrade, Servia.

What sort of a man had he been? How had he looked? No one knew. His neighbors in his cabin had not looked at him, because he had always been silent. No one had ever seen his face distinctly. They thought he was thin and broad-shouldered. And maybe not. . . . Everyone had seen something, no one had seen anything. Now he was standing before us, like a dread secret, like a torturing riddle. Janko Ravitz . . . What had Janko Ravitz been?

The sun touched the sea with its lower edge, and remained standing for a while, red, large, with sharply-defined contours and deeply-sunken in thought. It was evidently dreaming of its youth, when after millions and millions of risings and settings, it had given birth to the first day in the world. What a wonderful time that had been! How good it was to be a young god, and how great is the loneliness of an old one! . . .

And silently it disappeared into the sea.

Strange, unfamiliar stars appeared in the strange sky. A quiet evening poured itself out upon the world. Whole hosts of shadows rushed together from all parts of the sky, and laid themselves upon the water in thick masses. A dumb silence floated up from the depths of the sea, raised itself upwards, and filled the world. And great was the silence of the sea, like unto the sea itself.

"I had a friend, an artist," said my neighbor to me—a greyish, strongly-built man with blue, thoughtful eyes. "He used to paint the sea. And he went out of his mind. . . ."

"Why?" I asked.

"He used to say that when the sea spoke to him, he could paint it, in harder or softer outlines, and color it, more or less. It was human. But when the sea was silent! . . . It told him so much, so many things which he was not capable of expressing on the canvas. He complained to me that the silent sea sucked the very marrow out of his bones. And the sea, when it spoke, ate into him more and more deeply each day. And its speech sounded to him like ordinary clever gossip. . . ."

I looked at my neighbor more scrutinisingly. He was speaking calmly, monotonously, sleepily. And it seemed to me that he was looking at the sea, and perhaps at nothing. After a brief silence he began again.

"That same artist was in love—that is, he loved a girl who did not love him. She talked and sang and laughed, and could not bear his silence, which he had, I imagine, learnt from the sea. But when the artist lost his reason the girl began to love him. From that time she also ceased to speak, to laugh or to sing. She took him into her own house. And on stormy days, when the sea spoke, no one ever saw them out of doors. But on quiet, very quiet days, she used to take her sick lover out in a boat, far, far out to sea. There they spent many long hours. What did they then I do not know. But each time, she came back paler and paler. I do not know the end of the tale either. I have not yet thought it out. . . ."

My neighbor got up from his chair and went over to the other side of the deck.

"Well, and the moral of the tale?" I shouted after him.

He waved his hand, as if to say:

"Oh, leave me alone."

A curious man! . . .

* * *

The ship rocked. I dozed off. And someone was talking softly into my ear.

"I knew an artist. He used to paint the sea. He went out of his mind . . . His name was Janko Ravitz."

The Greatest Gift of All

Within the confines of four walls many a woman spends the greater part of her lifetime. It is possible that she may spend this time in drudgery, seeking for some opportunity to lighten the burden of her daily round. It is also impossible for her to reach the independent level of the modern discriminating woman without the greatest gift of all.

PEOPLE'S DEPOSITS NOW TOTAL OVER $6,000,000 PROVINCE OF ONTARIO SAVINGS OFFICE REACHES PROFIT STAGE

Funds aggregating the substantial sum of over $6,000,000 are now on deposit in the Province of Ontario Savings Office. Over twenty thousand savings accounts are upon the books. Over $115,000 are on deposit in the Assured Savings Department. Certain of the branches have already reached a paying basis, and from now on the whole organization will be able to pay a profit on operation, cover capital charges, and gradually wipe out cost of equipment and organization.

Such is the record of twelve months' operations. Every day the ratio of operating expense is growing less, while the volume of business is growing greater. Fourteen branches are now doing business at strategic points in the Province, including two offices in Toronto, one in Hamilton, one in Ottawa, one in Brantford. Some of these offices have been opened longer than others, the periods in the figures quoted ranging from twelve months to twelve weeks.

In the three months of the present year, the savings business, as a whole, has increased nearly 100% over that done during the whole period which proceeded it.

Friends and critics of the Province of Ontario Savings Office are faced with a record which stands unique among institutions of similar kind in Canada, being neither exceeded or even approached by any Canadian chartered bank. It is a record both in the point of time and in the large number of accounts in proportion to the money on deposit. It shows that a broader foundation has been laid for an expanding business than if the proportion of depositors was smaller, and the money was held on account of a comparatively few big depositors.

In a statement just issued by the Director, M. E. McKenzie, at the head office in Queen's Park, Toronto, it is pointed out that a new branch bank requires, as a rule, four or five years to reach the point where business pays a profit on cost of operation. That stage has been reached by the Ontario Savings Office in twelve months—some branches in less than three months.

"It is not, of course, maintained that the capital cost of establishing, furnishing and installing these offices has already been returned in profits, nor could that be expected," says Mr. McKenzie. "But the cost of operating them is now covered, and from now on capital charges will be taken care of, and the equipment will remain as a valuable asset.

"From now on, it should also be pointed out, the ratio of expense will rapidly decrease as the volume of business grows. The connection has been established. The Ontario Savings Office has won the confidence of the people of Ontario."

WARSAW COAT OF ARMS NOT FOR JEWISH COMMUNITY

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—Considerable comment has been aroused here by the action of the Board of the Warsaw City Council in regard to the seal of the Warsaw Jewish communal organization. Since the Middle Ages, the seal has included the City Coat of Arms, representing a siren. The Board of the City Council contends now that there is no document to show that the Jewish communal organization has any right to the use of this coat of arms.

The Jewish community has decided not to fight the case and will not use the seal any more. A competition has been announced for a new design for a seal for the community.

PALESTINE SILICATE COMPANY RESUMES WORK

Jerusalem (J. T. A.)—The Palestine Silicate Company, the largest brick company in the Orient, which was established in Tel-Aviv in February, 1921, but was compelled some time ago owing to the difficulties encountered by it to close down its works temporarily, has now recommenced its activities. It is stated that the company has received a loan of $20,000 from the Economic Board for Palestine in London.

IS BOOTLEGGING A JEWISH PROBLEM?

THE public press has of late, insinuated that bootlegging is a Jewish problem and thereby raised a nice issue. It is unfortunately true that an insignificant fraction of our co-religionists are engaged in the nefarious bootlegging traffic. It is true that these people seem to concentrate in the immigrant quarter of the city. It is true that the courts report in our newspapers convey the impression that an unusually large number of petty bootleggers are of Jewish descent. Granted that all of this is true. Is it fair, therefore, to charge that bootlegging is a Jewish problem? We maintain that it is not.

The overwhelming majority of Jews in Toronto and Canada are not in any shape or form, directly or indirectly, associated with the liquor traffic.

The Jews are a temperate people universally known for their sobriety and moderation. Even in the heyday of the public house the Jewish drunkard was a rarity.

When the prohibition issue was before the people for electoral decision the writer urged his co-religionists to vote in favor of the law, not [illegible] for the good it would do [illegible] but because of a sense of [illegible] for the good it would do themselves, for the encouragement of self-control and whose heredity [illegible] either sobriety or temperance. The Jewish voters [illegible] with the appeal. Though prohibition was a matter not [illegible] affecting them.

The Jew, generally speaking, is a law-abiding citizen. His religion [illegible] a matter of faith. It is primarily a matter of [illegible]. The Jew yields priority to no citizens [illegible] for law and order. For this reason the great number [illegible] Jews feel it keenly that some of their co-[illegible] should, by their depredations, bring all sense of [illegible] for the sake of the petty,

[illegible] are agreed that [illegible] pay for the big dealers [illegible] The [illegible] the little man, [illegible] made the

[illegible] tomorrow if the government [illegible]

[illegible] a [illegible] jail [illegible] for a [illegible] but a second offence would mean [illegible]

Another objectionable feature of the B.O.T.A. is the provision for obtaining liquor through the government dispensary on a physician's prescription. It is well known that this provision is open to a great deal of abuse.

The Government is in receipt of tremendous surplus revenue yearly, running into several figures, from fines and other violations of the Act. This revenue, multiplied several times over, should be used for one purpose only, to engage a force of inspectors large enough and sufficiently competent, to adequately handle the bootlegging evil. With such a force in operation it would be only a matter of days when petty bootlegging, such as the few Jews are involved in, would be rooted out.

The Jewish people have no clerical organization such as have other religious denominations, that could cast the fear of heaven and hell into the hearts of its people. Every Jewish congregation is an autonomous religious unit and recognizes no hierarchical organization or ecclesiastical dignitary, higher up to lord it over. And even if we had, the people involved in the disgraceful traffic have undoubtedly become so morally obtuse as to be beyond the fear either of heaven or hell.

The Jewish community has no organization for the purpose of ferreting out bootleggers, and it certainly ought not to be expected of a community such as ours, to trespass on the field of the police. All that Jewish religious and communal organizations can legitimately do is to exclude or expel from membership all such people known to be engaged in the traffic of booze. This has been and is the attitude of our community.

Something has been suggested in reference to Jewish co-operation. Have the provincial or city authorities involved in upholding the O.T.A. ever suggested to any person or group in the Jewish community, any form or plan of co-operation, and been refused? Since all the power to maintain law and order is vested in the government, and since it alone has the machinery necessary to enforce the law, it is absurd to require the Jewish community to take the enforcement of the B.O.T.A. into its hands, so far as the Jews are concerned? What does the average decent Jewish citizen know of the underground world in which bootlegging thrives? Just as much as his Christian neighbour, and that is nothing. Surely it is not suggested that the respectable element in the Jewish community turn detectives and stool pigeons!

It is the business of the provincial police, who are familiar with the problems involved to suggest to the leaders of the Jewish community a plan of co-operation. We are confident that such a plan will receive a most respectful hearing and, if practical, will have the whole-hearted support of the Jewish community.

It is an open secret that among the population generally, bootlegging is not regarded as a crime. People in high positions and low, think nothing of getting a "bottle" and indulging themselves. The fact is that the social bar has replaced the public bar, and people who never touched liquor before the days of prohibition, regard very lightly the matter of "taking a drink." This is the psychological attitude of people generally.

Much of the editorial and article space now devoted to the association of bootlegging with the Jew, should more profitably be used in educating the public, so that the bootlegger would automatically be put out of commission.

There are Jews who are petty bootleggers. But there are also Protestants and Catholics in this class. Among the latter are bootleggers on a large scale, as whiskey distillers and dispensers. Why are not the names of these denominations linked with their moral and legal offences? To link the religion of the Jew with an individual Jew's misdemeanor, is to say the least, anti-Semitic.

The Jewish community are heartily ashamed of the misdeeds of a few of their black sheep, on which the Jewish community, thank God, have no monopoly. We are willing to do all in our power to co-operate with those in authority to clean house. But we refuse to regard as a Jewish issue the problem created by the negligence, insincerity and shortsightedness of those in charge of enforcing the O.T.A.

The stamping out of bootlegging is not a matter for the Jewish community even if some bootleggers happen to be Jews.

Mr. David Rosenthal, Field Secretary of the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association, which maintains a sanitarium at Los Angeles, Cal., where thousands of Jews find shelter free of charge is here to raise funds for this institution. In the nine years since the institution has been in existence it has saved the lives of thousands. The Los Angeles Express says:

"One of the really fine institutions of service in Southern California, noble in its purposes and sincere in its administrations, is the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association, that has built and maintained a "City of Hope" at Duarte, in the beautiful San Gabriel valley. The "City of Hope" is a sanatorium planned as a secure refuge where sufferers from tuberculosis may find shelter, and, with proper food, care and attendance, win their way back to health. All that loving kindness can suggest and solicitude obtain, all that medical skill is able to accomplish and patient personal attention provide, is there at the disposal of stricken men and women who else would be helpless.

"It is for the sick and unfortunate the 'City of Hope' was planned; it is for them it is maintained. They are not by callous attendants coerced into the consciousness that they are objects of 'charity.' Rather are they made to feel that they are welcome guests in the enjoyment of deserved hospitality. They pay nothing but are dealt with as if they paid in full.

"In the treatment of tuberculosis, air and sunshine and nourishing food are essential, but the patient's mental state plays its own curative or injurious part. When the mind is disturbed and the heart oppressed the body does not react responsively to medical treatment, however skilled. When the mind is at ease the patient is forwarded to recovery by the very fact. It is in the creation of a helpful mental atmosphere that the 'City of Hope,' has achieved wonderful results."

Montrealer Wins Big Honor

Montreal friends of Dr. Jacob Viner, Associate Professor of Economics of the University of Chicago, will be interested to learn that he recently won the David A. Wells prize from Harvard University for research in economics. This prize of $500.00 is the biggest money prize offered by any American university, and carries with it the right of publication in the Harvard Economic Series. Dr. Viner's book, which is already in press, is "The Canadian Balance of International Indebtedness, 1900-1913." Dr. Viner has a second book now being published by the University of Chicago press. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Viner, 85 Mance Royal Avenue West, whose other two sons, Norman and Abe, are physicians. It will be remembered that Dr. Viner substituted for Dr. Stephen Leacock at McGill while the latter was on leave of absence abroad. Dr. and Mrs. Viner and young son, Arthur William, expect to visit their parents in the fall.

Y. AND TALMUD TORAH BAZAAR

A combined Y.M.H.A. and Talmud Torah Bazaar will be staged in Toronto during the Succoth Harvest Festival to raise $15,000, a small objective, considering that there are about 40,000 Jews in Toronto.

The Jews are declared to be enemies of Poland, and therefore, should not be allowed to have representation in Parliament. They also ask for the resignation of Professor Askenazi who represents Poland in the League of Nations.

"The world is too much with us: late and soon
Getting and spending we lay waste our powers;
Little we see in Nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
This Sea that bares her bosom to the moon;
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything we are out of tune;
It moves us not."—WILLIAM WORDSWORTH.

Another rabbi in the person of young Abba Hillel Silver, of Cleveland, has just given his congregation and others something to think about in his resignation from the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, because of its campaign for the open shop. Silver said some disturbing things during the war that was to make men free and his refusal to ally himself with a movement to take a crack at unionism through such an open shop as any chamber of commerce would pray for, is the latest call for social justice to be made by a minister. Silver, who dares to be a Zionist, although at the head of a Reform flock (than which nothing in the States could be less Zionistic), is one of the most gifted men in the American ministry, Jew or Gentile, and one of the most interesting of the younger rabbis, because he was able to establish himself so quickly in independence of the group of people which pays his salary. However, what catches our eagle eye right now is not so much Silver, as the congregation to which he and a few others like him preach. We can well imagine that the one in Cleveland is buzzing with excitement and running its head almost demented trying to decide whether to be justly proud of its outspoken leader or to be afraid of how far he will go and whether or not he is a sample of the supply of rabbis to be had in future. When Silver as good as told capital that he didn't care for the kind of open shop it would like to run he stepped hard upon the toes of many a man in his own congregation and elicited indignant squeals from beneath the platinum chest protectors which so many lady members of that congregation wear. When this rabbi resigned from the representative capitalist organization of the city, an association directly connected with his church, he hurled reflection and business in a way to make any reactionary dues-payer sigh for the days when a rabbi was content to read from Isaiah if he wanted to say that all was not right with the world. Perhaps this same dues-payer sees with a shudder a vision of the day when all preachers and teachers will have plenty of elbow room in which to inspire and influence all humans about them when religion can be put to some practical use in the actual lives of men, when temples will be more than expensive examples of architecture.

Social Workers Unpopular with Labor

Amalgamated Representative Asserts

Paul Blanchard, of Rochester, Tells Jewish Social Workers Present Day Charity Is Scorned by Progressive Laborites

Judge Moses Finds Common Ground for Unions and Social Service Workers

Washington (J. C. B.)—Unless the social service worker will "bite the hand that feeds him" during a strike and stand by the workers as against the employers, organized labor will regard him as an enemy, the six hundred delegates to the National Conference of Jewish Social Service were told yesterday by Paul Blanchard, of the Rochester Joint Board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, during the morning session at the Hotel Washington.

"Acid tests," said the speaker, "applied by class-conscious progressives, who are the predominating element in labor unions, to the social service workers, are the following:

"Are you opposed to a social order on industrial inequality?

"If you are, how often do you say it?"

"Any social worker who knows what organized labor has done, and won't stand by it in its struggle for economic equality is not fit to be a worker in the field of organized charity," is another poser put by the progressives to the social worker, according to Mr. Blanchard.

"What sort of charity does organized labor want?" Mr. Blanchard asked. "We are moving towards a social order in which the people can help themselves; when the people working through the Government can gradually take over most of the social agencies now supported by private means. Those things are the people's job; it is not to be left to the ruling classes."

"Charity is part of the present social order," the speaker said. "Its funds come from investors and employers who, if they really wanted to help us, would give it to us in the first place. Class-conscious progressives will say that charity makes robbers respectable. He would point to Judge Gary, of the Steel Trust, who spent over $1,000 a day on steamship accommodations when he went abroad on a vacation recently, while his workers remained in the mill seven days a week and twelve hours a day, and say of him: 'He is a robber.' I agree with them. So long as charity takes money from men of Judge Gary's type it is taking money in order to make men who ought to be in jail respectable.

"Charity also tends to maintain the condemnable status quo. In the opinion of the progressive laborite, charity allays discontent and oppresses the truth, therefore it is retarding the march towards a better social order. The class-conscious progressive therefore regards the charity worker as one who lives on human suffering, and as one having no right to exist since he is not doing all in his power to destroy the root-causes of poverty.

"The replies to these charges," the speaker conceded, "is that organized charity is really helping to build the new social order. It is not merely palliative, it is doing work now that would have to be done even if labor controlled the social order."

Judge Jacob R. Moses, former impartial chairman for the clothing industry of Baltimore, declared that it was absolutely untrue that organized Jewish labor was radical.

The great majority of Jewish workmen are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. They conceive their membership in this conservative organization as a good business proposition. It moves slowly, attempting moderate gains, such as better wages, shorter hours, and holding these gains. The rest, mainly those in the needle trades, belonging to the "Amalgamated," look upon the union as an instrument of social service. They are not content with mere present gains. They are looking into the future, when they can throw off the yoke of labor. They want also to educate their children.

When a strike broke out in Baltimore the organized charities were appealed to for workers. Thus they came to be regarded by the unions as strike-breakers. When the charities hoped suffering strikers they were denounced by employers as their enemies, and the employers refused to contribute to the charities.

"Unemployment is the curse of labor," said Judge Moses, "and in this field the unions and the social service workers have a common ground for co-operation. The opening of labor banks in New York and Chicago is due to the fact that ordinary banks have so often been used against workmen. The employers can borrow money during strikes. Strikers cannot; their unions cannot. Workmen wanted knowledge of the banking business, and unions look forward to the time when they will want to go into business themselves on a co-operative basis, on the basis of industrial democracy."

The Conference adopted by an overwhelming vote the proposal of the majority committee on social service training, that special courses for Jewish social service workers be arranged during the period prior and subsequent to regular courses in general social service at various universities and schools of philanthropy. The Executive Committee was authorized to make arrangements with the theological seminaries, religious institutes, and universities all over the country for the instruction (in regular and extension courses) in Jewish history, religious tradition, Yiddish and problems of contemporary Jewish life.

The following officers were elected by acclamation:

Maurice B. Hexter, of Boston, President (after Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein had withdrawn in his favor); Morris D. Waldman, of Brooklyn, 1st Vice-President; Dr. C. D. Spivak, of Denver, [illegible] Vice-Presidents; and Samuel E. [illegible], of Cincinnati, 3rd Vice-President; [illegible] Goldsmith, of New York, Secretary; Louis M. Cohen, of Chicago, [illegible] Carl B. Weiner, Buffalo; [illegible] Chicago; Benjamin [illegible] Baltimore, and Dr. A. M. [illegible] New York, Assistant Secretaries, and the following executive committee: M. J. Karpf, Chicago, [illegible] Kahn, Baltimore, Dr. Ludwig B. Bernstein, Pittsburgh, and Bernard Teitelbaum, the outgoing President, ex-officio.

NO MORE CHLORINE IN TORONTO WATER!

In order to protect the citizens of Toronto from epidemics, the waterworks has resorted to the use of chlorine for the destruction of the disease-producing germs that occur in the raw lake water. While chlorine is effective in preventing disease, it is, at times, necessary to use it in such quantities as to cause a pronounced taste and odour in the city water. These tastes and odours are the result of the action of chlorine on certain organic impurities that the water contains.

The Orange Crush Bottlers, Ltd., have installed in their modern bottling plant, an electric ozonizer for purifying the Toronto water before using it for bottling their justly famous Orange, Lime and Lemon Crushes.

The delicate flavour and delightful aroma of Ward's Citrus Crushes are the result of painstaking blending of pure fruit flavours, citrus fruit juices and pure cane sugar. This wonderful blend is then combined with carbonated water, filled into "Krinkly" bottles and served as Canada's most satisfying beverage.

The character of the water used with Ward's Orange Crush is very important, for if it contains tastes and odours foreign to good water, much of the painstaking blending will be set at nought. For this reason, the Orange Crush Bottlers, Ltd., have adopted the only effective means for purifying Toronto water a blend that, for their popular Crushes.

Oxygen is, of all the original elements, the one picked out by Nature to perform her purifying functions. Ozone is oxygen of the air that has been acted upon by a high tension electric current. Energy from the electric current is supplied to the oxygen, thus increasing its purifying properties a hundredfold. The ozone so produced is then mixed with all of the water used for bottling Ward's Crushes. The action of ozone on water-borne impurities is that of immediate oxidation. Oxidation is but another word for combustion, so it is therefore seen that the impurities responsible for the tastes and odours in Toronto water are completely burned up and eliminated.

Samples of peculiar water submitted to the City Health Laboratories were tested and pronounced pure.

Following the impressive ceremonies of confirmation which took place Monday morning at the Holy Blossom Synagog, the parents of the confirmants held a reception in the Synagog Chambers from 4 to 6 o'clock. Numerous friends and relatives called to offer their good wishes to the happy confirmants and parents. The chambers were a riot of beautiful colour with ferns, palms and baskets of pink and white flowers of every variety of spring. The platform was attractively turned into a drawing room. The soft lights, flowers and fernery lent a homelike atmosphere to the room and sweet strains of an orchestra added to the pleasure of the afternoon. In charge of these arrangements was Miss Clara Kallmeyer. At the entrance to the room, Rabbi and Mrs. Brickner welcomed the guests, while the parents of the children, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hutner, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Asher Pritzker, Mr. and Mrs. David Rosenbaum, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. CONFISCATION OF CHURCH PROPERTY TO BE STOPPED

Moscow (J. T. A.)—Discontinuance of the sequestration of church and synagog property was decided upon at the meeting here of the Executive Committee of the Communist Party, it is learned. The Communists of the Ukraine are said to be particularly anxious to stop confiscation of church valuables, inasmuch as this and the conversion of synagogs into workmen's clubs is responsible for much of the ill-feeling against Communists, and members of the party, it is understood, have been urged not to demand this confiscation.

It appears that the only element anxious to proceed with the dismantling of synagogs are members of the Jewish section of the Communist Party, who are said to have demanded that a departure be made from the rule of leaving churches alone. This attempt on the whole has failed, the anti-religion campaign proving successful only at Charkov, Odessa and Kiev.

"POST" PRINTS PALESTINE INTERVIEW THAT'S FAIR

London (J. T. A.)—The "Morning Post" to-day publishes a comparatively favorable interview on the Palestine situation. The interview was given by Sir Martin Conway, M.P., a Conservative, who has just returned from Palestine.

"Hostility between Jews and Arabs is steadily diminishing, and friction between the two races is considerably less marked," Sir Martin declares. "I see no reason why Jews should not maintain their settlements and continue their immigration without interfering at all with the interests of the Arabs. Both races can continue to live in peace and comfort in Palestine."

Sir Martin represents in Parliament the combined English universities.

BRITISH CHIEF RABBI DEFENDS SHECHITA IN THE TIMES

London (J. C. B.)—The Chief Rabbi, Dr. J. H. Hertz, has a letter in the "Times" of April 30th, on the Slaughtering of Animals Bill introduced by Sir A Shirley-Benn, M.P., in the House of Commons on Friday last. As the Bill is again to come before the House of Commons, the Chief Rabbi writes, he desires to state that in its present form it cannot be acceptable to the Jewish community or to men of good-will of whatever creed. The Jewish method of slaughtering animals for food—Shechita—he continues, is according to the testimony of competent experts, including Lord Lister and Sir Michael Foster, Dr. Leonard Hill and Dr. T. H. Openshaw, the most humane. It is moreover an essential part of the Jewish religion, and meat from animals killed by any other method is prohibited to Jews. Legislation interfering with Shechita would therefore inflict cruel hardship on hundreds of thousands of law-abiding citizens, and would in effect constitute a grievous religious persecution.

Jassy (J. T. A.)—Four hundred students from Bessarabia, practically all Jews, have been expelled from the University on the ground that their Russian matriculation certificates fell below the qualifications required for entrance into Roumanian universities. This is understood to be the first step towards the fulfilment of Minister of Education Anghelescu's recent statement regarding a thorough revision of all students' entrance certificates.

"THE NE'ER-DO-WELL"

London (J.T.A.).—The announcement by Stanley Baldwin in the House of Commons yesterday, that the present arrangement between Great Britain and Irak will terminate upon the admittance of the latter into the League of Nations, or at any rate not later than four years hence appears to be welcomed in most of the London newspapers who have commented on it.

The measure of satisfaction expressed over this decision hinges, however, on the attitude of the different newspapers towards the so-called "bag and baggage" policy. The "Times" considers the decision of withdrawal as an honorable compromise between promises made to the Arab People and the interests of British economy, and sees in it, the down-fall of the "bag and baggage policy."

The "London Express" is triumphant over what it considers the success of its policy in urging absolute evacuation of the British from the East. Lord Beaverbrook's Express, accordingly, concludes that now is the time to quit Palestine.

ROTHSCHILDS, KUHN LOEB & CO., ASSAILED FOR AIDING HUNGARY

Vienna (J. T. A.)—The London house of Rothschilds and the Paris representatives of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., of New York, are bitterly and indignantly assailed by the Wiener Morgenzeitung for what the paper regards as excessive cordiality shown towards the plenipotentiaries of the Horthy regime, who are negotiating a loan in European capitals. Count Bethlen, the Hungarian premier, and M. Kallay, the Finance Minister, have been spending some time in Paris, London and Rome in the hope of floating a Hungarian loan.

"The representatives of the London Rothschilds and the Paris representatives of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. have not only discussed the loan but also invited to their home for lunch and dinner representatives of the Horthy terror, the initiator of Numerus Clausus and other repressions against Jews," the Morgenzeitung asserts. In connection with this it recalls that a proposed loan by Czarist Russia was refused by Jewish bankers, in the absence of suitable guarantees of a betterment in the treatment of the Jew in Russia. This time the Jewish bankers evidently asked for nothing more than the privilege of participating in the loan, this journal charges, while it says it learns that prior to his departure Premier Bethlen prevailed on the Awakening Magyars to halt their pogrom activities, pending the successful completion of the loan.

GERMANY TO ADMIT EXILED JEWISH REFUGEES

Warsaw (J. T. A.)—As previously reported, the German Government declared itself prepared to give transmigration facilities through Germany to three hundred refugees expelled from Poland, and to allow them to stay in the country until they received their visas and were able to continue their journey.

Dr. Spiegel, the representative of the German Red Cross, went especially to Warsaw in order to arrange details on the spot. He did not arrive there, however, until after April 15, by which date the term fixed by the Polish Government for the evacuation of the refugees had already expired, and the refugees who had been selected for transmigration through Germany had left Poland.

The permission of the German Government no longer holds good, but Dr. Spiegel declares that he hopes that the German Red Cross will be able to persuade the Government to allow 300 to 500 refugees who must leave Poland after September 1 to stay in Germany until they have obtained their American visas.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION ADMITS COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN

New York (J. T. A.)—At the convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, recently held in Atlanta, the Federation which maintains a policy of excluding purely sectarian organizations, recognized that the Council of Jewish Women does not put a sectarian limitation on its activities. The convention voted to direct the Board of Directors to interpret the rules of the Federation to include the Council of Jewish Women.

Danzig (J. T. A.)—As many as one thousand Jewish refugees who are Polish citizens have congregated in Minsk and other cities in Western Russia and are unable to proceed to Poland because the Polish consul at Minsk refuses to visa their passports.

Greek Catholics are reported to be discriminated against in the same way. Roman Catholic Poles on the other hand easily obtain permission to enter Poland, it is alleged.

Meanwhile the Jewish refugees are in the direst distress. Many of them have traveled from as far away as Omsk and Tomsk, in Siberia, expecting to be able to return to their Polish homes. They have spent their all on the journey and are now penniless.

YOUNG MEN'S HEBREW ASSOCIATION

Y.M.H.A. maintained its winning streak in the junior "B" Football League by defeating West Kildonan 3 to 1, Tuesday evening, May 15th. The first period concluded with each team scoring on one occasion. The victors added two more to their list in the second half.

The Y.M.H.A. team lined up as follows: The Messrs. Knelman, Mogul, Geller, Triller, Golden, Korp, Lichus, Stein, Foster, Herschfield and Radis.

The Y.M.H.A. juvenile footballers followed the steps of their junior team and registered a 1 to 0 victory over the St. James team Tuesday evening, May 15th. The winners were Messrs. Stone, Klien, Letvak, Rubin, Bass, Gilfex, Lack, Schaffer, Greenberg, Hallis and Abramson.

Thursday evening, May 17th, the Junior Y.M.H.A. played against the Montefiore and the scoring was very doubtful for them until "Sheppy" Herschfield, the youthful left-half of the Junior Y.M.H.A. drove the ball into the Montefiore net five minutes before the time was up saving his team from an almost sure defeat. The game ended in a one goal draw. The Montefiore boys were enjoying a clear advantage in the first half and fully worth their one-goal lead. In the final period however, the "Y" boys staged a strong come-back and bombarded their opponents' citadel, and though they were in possession of the bulk of the play, the strong defence that the Montefiore presented gave promise of bringing them victory until Hirschfield came through with a fine shot in the closing minute to create a draw. Over 500 spectators witnessed this game.

Y.M.H.A. DRAMATIC CLUB

A junior Y.M.H.A. Dramatic Club has been formed recently and is being led by Mr. D. Goldsmith. Their meetings take place every Friday evening at the club-rooms. During the evening, Mr. Goldsmith reads several one-act plays to them and assigns each one present a different character which they study for a few minutes and then read them aloud as each cue calls for its part. Some time in the coming fall the best cast will be chosen and it is hoped to be able to produce three one-act plays to be staged at the Community Theatre.

EZRAH CHAPTER OF HADASSAH

An executive meeting was held by the Ezrah Chapter of Hadassah, Friday, May 11th, at the Shaarey Zedek Synagog. The President, Mrs. Max Rady, occupied the chair. It was decided to postpone the concert previously announced for May 27th, to Sunday, June 10th, to take place at the Allen Theatre, the proceeds to be in aid of the Pioneers of Palestine, and an excellent program is promised. The question of election of officers was discussed and it was decided to leave it to the will of those present at the next general meeting as to electing new officers now or leaving it until later in the year. The regular monthly meeting which was to have taken place on the 21st of this month has been postponed a week later and will take place Monday, May 28th, at the Shaarey Zedek Synagog.

GIRL GUIDES

A demonstration of al the duties performed by the Girl Guides during the first four weeks of the formation of a new company was given to the Girl Guides of the Jewish Orphanage Troop by the other Jewish troops in the city, Wednesday evening, May 16th, at the home, Matheson Avenue. Each patrol represented one week's work and was led by a patrol leader. Following this the remainder of the evening was spent in games and music in which both companies joined. The annual Girl Guide Rally in which all the Girl Guides of the City will participate, takes place, Saturday, May 19th, in the assembly hall and grounds of Wesley College. From 2.30 o'clock a demonstration of badge work will be on view in the assembly hall. The entries have been entirely made by the Guides and Brownies themselves, and cover a wide range. Among the badges demonstrated will be cook, laundress, embroiderer, knitter, artist, etc. At four o'clock a flag-raising ceremony will take place, followed by a march past and the presentation of awards.

HABOINIM

A general meeting of the Haboinim took place at the Zionist headquarters on Sunday evening, May 20th. The various committees who reported on the work showed the remarkable progress the club has made since its organization. The meeting was presided over by Mr. H. A. Shanas, the president. Rabbi Kahanovitch gave a very inspiring address which was received enthusiastically. Many volunteers enlisted for the Keren Hayesod and National Fund work. The membership has increased rapidly. It is intended throughout the summer to carry out an extensive educational program of Jewish history, Zionism and Jewish literature. The next meeting will be held at the Zionist headquarters on Sunday evening, May 27th. The program will consist of an historical lecture, a reading from Sholem Alechem and a musical item.

YOUNG JUDAEA

An election mass meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 27th. Reports for the year's work will be given and election held for the coming term. Rev. H. J. Samuel will be the guest for the afternoon.

Preparations are being made for the literary and social evening to be held on Sunday evening, June 3rd. A very interesting program is being arranged; the first part of the evening will be literary, and the latter part, social. A splendid orchestra will be in attendance and dancing will be indulged in. The speakers and the musical program will be announced later.

MANITOBA UNIVERSITY RESULTS

Once again the results of the Christmas and April examinations of the Manitoba University have been published, and once again Jewry has reason, when looking down the long list of success, to see the number of Jewish names amongst the prize winners. Winnipeg is proud of its Jewish youths who have entered into every branch of study, many of whom are comparatively recent arrivals from Europe. To attempt to publish the names of all those who have passed the various tests would require a great deal of time and as it is limited, it must suffice to name the most prominent success.

Examination lists such as this show that the Jewish youth of to-day are looking forward to the time when their names will stand forth prominently in the various professions, and tends to disprove the old charge that the Jew does not aspire to become anything higher than a "trader." When the doors of learning are thrown open to them without restriction as to the number of entrants, they can and do hold their own against all comers. The congratulations and good wishes of the Community are tendered to the prize winners and other successful students, and encouragement is offered to the few whose ambitions have not been realized

A regular meeting of the Ottawa Chapter of Hadassah was held on Thursday evening at the King Edward Avenue Institute. There was a large attendance, and a great deal of business was transacted. There will be one more meeting before the season closes, and at this a paper will be read by Mr. I. Zivian on "The Rising Generation." A donation of ten dollars towards the same fund was received from the Little Sister Club. Regret was expressed when a letter of resignation was read from Mrs. Martin Wolff, past educational secretary, who is leaving Ottawa shortly.

Mrs. J. Holzman entertained at a card party at her summer cottage at Britannia, last week in honour of Mrs. Abramson, of Kingston. The first prize at bridge was won by Mrs. W. Shankman, and the second by Mrs. Harry Dover. Mrs. Abramson was presented with a guest-prize.

"THE MISUNDERSTOOD PEOPLE"

Was the Subject of an Address Delivered by Rabbi M. J. Merritt Before the Independent Order Sons of Israel, at the Mount Royal Hotel, on Thursday Evening Last

"Publicity and Propaganda by the Jews Themselves," said Rabbi Merritt, "will check the flow of anti-Semitism in America to-day. The same weapon as used by anti-Semites against us should be employed by us against the anti-Semites. We should bring to the world's notice the brilliant contributions that the Jew has made to civilization and progress. We should proceed to inform, particularly the non-Jewish world that there is not a branch of literature, art, science and commerce in which the Jew is not in the front rank. We should not hesitate to remind the anti-Semite of such of our brethren as Maimonides, Herzl, Rothschild, Montefiore and Schiffe and countless others whose sole ambition in life was to serve the world at large. The Jew has been misunderstood for centuries and centuries," continued the Rabbi, "he has been made the scapegoat of the world in all countries. Germany blames him for having started the war and now that the war is over, it curses him for having lost the war. Russia casts chagrins upon the Jew, stating that he is the Bolshevik. Austria denounces him as a Communist. America's anti-Semites accept hearsay in its denunciations of the Jew. The whole world misunderstands the Jew."

Concluding a most inspiring address, the Rabbi emphatically stated, "It should be our purpose in life as good Jews, to give every possible publicity, be it on street corners or in hotels or like places, of the Jew's contributions to enlightenment and progress. This will, I am sure, be the death blow to anti-Semitism."

THE FORTIETH ANNUAL MEETING OF TEMPLE EMANU-EL

On Monday evening, May 14, at 8.30 p.m. there was held in the lecture hall of Temple Emanu-El, the fortieth annual meeting of the congregation. The largest and most enthusiastic assembly in the history of the Temple gathered for this meeting. Mr. Maxwell Goldstein, the president, was in the chair, and the officers, Mr. Nathan Gordon, vice-president, Mr. A. Sommer, honorary-treasurer, Mr. Sol. Vineberg, Jr., honorary secretary, Miss Lucille Roston, assistant secretary and treasurer, and Rabbi Merritt, were seated on the platform with him.

The president's report contained a resumé of the outstanding events in the congregational life since the last assembly, with special reference to the fortieth milestone of the congregation's existence, and the acquisition of the property adjoining Temple Emanu-El as a fortieth anniversary monument. The new charter under which the congregation will now function was laid before the meeting, and a committee appointed to draft new by-laws conforming to the recently secured charter.

The treasurer, Mr. A. Somer made a report on the finances, showing that the affairs of the Temple were in excellent financial condition.

The secretary of the Sisterhood, presented an admirable report on the splendid activities of the Sisterhood for the year; and the secretary of the Brotherhood reported upon the spirit of fellowship and the new note of service that has been struck by the men of the Temple. Mrs. Gustav Fischel, president of the Sisterhood, and Mr. Clarence Michaels, president of the Brotherhood, supplemented the reports of their secretaries with a word calling for co-operation, and stressing the value of auxiliary service in the building up of the Temple's prestige.

Rabbi Merritt presented the annual report of the spiritual leader of the Temple, setting forth the fine work done by the auxiliary bodies, a detailed status of the religious school, calling attention to the communal activities of the Rabbi in co-operating with the civic and social service bodies, and telling of the new understanding being built up by frequent appearances before non-Jewish bodies, brotherhoods, clubs, masonic lodges, and in the pulpits of our neighbours, emphasizing the fact that a cordial relationship and better understanding cannot help but neutralize old prejudices. Rabbi Merritt asked for a heartier spirit of loyalty and co-operation and of vitalized interest in religious service; and a unanimous pledge given by the large assembly to rally to his aid in such good work and enthusiastically to support the cause of Reform in Montreal was the remarkable climax of an enthusiastic meeting. Rabbi Merritt consented to renew his covenant with Temple Emanu-El, and to devote his best efforts to keeping it in the forefront of communal life.

An informal dance and social followed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Maxwell Goldstein, convenor. Music was furnished by the "Florida Ramblers," a musical group under the leadership of Mr. Joe Levis.

The Montreal Chess Champion Tournament which recently took place resulted in a victory over all other players by H. Rombach, of the Midnight Chess Club. Cartier, of the Westmount Chess Club, came second in the list, while Le Dain made a good third.

Rombach will represent Montreal in the Dominion Chess Championship Tournament to be held next year in Winnipeg.

One or two students in the University of Montreal and two in the middle of their course at McGill will be allowed to finish. Then the gates will be shut. Miss Neamtan is the daughter of a Montreal druggist.

Miss Mildred Silverman gave a concert at Grand' Mere last Tuesday evening.

A meeting of the representatives of the different Hadassah chapters will meet on Thursday, May 24, at Zionist Headquarters, to report to Mrs. S. Kahn, the convenor, for the Hadassah Lawn Fête that has been planned to take place at the home of Mrs. Frank Branson, Claremont Avenue, on June 12.

Miss Bessie Eccenberg spent the week-end with her parents in Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Miss Yetta Rosen was visiting friends in Ottawa last week.

Miss Bella Lande, Park Avenue, is a guest at the Hotel Vermont, Ste. Agathe.

Miss Pasha Abell, the well known mezzo-soprano, is returning to New York where she will continue her studies.

Beautiful services were held at the Temple Emanu-El on Sunday, May 20, at 2.30 p.m., when Ruth Bercovitch, Rebecca Darwin, Olga Gwendolyn Lewis and Fanny Roman were confirmed. At the conclusion of the processional march, played by Mr. Geo. M. Brewer, the confirmants, in dresses of white, entered the temple to the strains of the song of welcome which were sung by the children of the Sabbath School. The service, which was conducted by the confirmants themselves, was beautiful and impressive. In his sermon, "The Greatest Gift," Rabbi Max J. Merritt touched a responsive chord in the hearts of all who heard him. The certificates were presented to the confirmants by Mr. Maxwell Goldstein, the president of the Temple. The service was as follows: Opening prayer, Olga Lewis; taking out of Torah, Fanny Roman; the opening blessing, the Class; the ten words, Rabbi; the closing blessing, the Class; the commandments, the Class; scriptural reading, Olga Lewis; returning the Torah, Ruth Bercovitch; floral march (Guilmant), Mr. Geo. Brewer; the symbolism of the flowers, Ruth Bercovitch; contralto solo, "Thou Art Like unto a flower" (Liszt), Mrs. B. Fraser Stewart; our obligation, Rebecca Darwin; the doctrines of Judaism, the Class; address to the parents, Fanny Roman; violin solo, "Meditation" from "Thais," Louis King; presentation of certificates, Mr. Maxwell Goldstein, K.C.; closing prayer, Olga Lewis; blessing (Largo, Handel—Louis King), Rabbi; sermon, "The Greatest Gift," Rabbi; exaltation, "Holy, Holy, Holy" (Gounod), Choir.

The interesting program presented on May 15, at the New Empire Theatre, by the Choral and Dramatic Society of the Shaar Hashomayim Synagog, promises well for the further development of the society. The numbers were extremely well chosen, affording wide scope for the versatility of the cast. The opening number was a series of short vaudeville skits that were as dainty and clever as they were entertaining. Miss Edith Ziff, in a dance speciality, was particularly deserving of mention for suppleness and grace of movement. Evelyn Scheffer and Harold Fischel, in a song, "My Old Man," were well received. "Crinoline Days," with Sadie Usher as the principal, and "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," with the ever popular Jack Klein as the principal, were tuneful and melodious. The chorus in "Crinoline Days" was made up of the following girls: Marjorie Neumann, Elaine Neumann, Bessie Klein, Dorothy Fisher, Evelyn Scheffer, Bessie Lonn, Sylvia Neumann, Sadie Abramson; while the following assisted Jack Klein in his skit: Dorothy Fisher, Jazz; Bessie Lonn, Frenchy; Elaine Neumann, Crinoline Girl; Sadie Abramson, Sentiment; Bessie Klein, Carmen; Edith Ziff, Tango. "Trial by Jury," a Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera which formed the main feature of the evening's entertainment, was twenty minutes of fresh, fast, sparkling, tuneful fun. The cast, from the principals to the members of the chorus, were so well imbued with the spirit of the farce that they seemed to enjoy the whole thing every bit as much as did the audience. Mr. Jay Wolfe, the Learned Judge, was a huge success, lending his lines all the humour that was their due. Miss Etta Pinsler, as Angelina, the Plaintiff, scored another success to add to her already very long list. Mr. Abe Rother, who had been cast for the role of the defendant, was unfortunately troubled with laryngitis and unable to take part. To Mr. Douglas Beatty, of the St. Lambert Society, who replaced Mr. Rother at a moment's notice, much credit should be given for his splendid portrayal of the fickle lover. Joe Glickman, as usher, was well chosen, and credit too is due Messrs. M. N. Finberg, Gershon Ruttenberg and Alfred Saxe for their work. The singing of the chorus was of a high order, the grace and rhythm of the bridesmaids being particularly noticeable. They were as follows: Bridesmaids — Rose Klein, Dorothy Fisher, Evelyn Scheffer, Molly Bald. Jury—Alex Silver, Bill Broidy, Arnold Livingstone, Bernard Pinsler, Leo Branson, Victor Fischel, Peter Fels, Ben Abrams, Ben Michaels, Rubin Michaels, Lawrence Samit; Spectators—Ida Persky, Sadie Usher, Ruth Vineberg, Mrs. Sidney Levitt, Rea Cossman, Maud Goldman, Stella Wolman, Dolly Kleinberg, Florence Kleinberg, Jessie Bloomfield, Pearl Vineberg, Mrs. Leo Bramson, Gladys Livingstone, Edith Silver, Leah Lewis, Bessie Klein, Esther Frank, Mrs. J. Wolfe. "The Twelve-Pound Look," Barrie's one-act playlet completed the program. Mrs. Leo Bramson, in the role of Kate, the Typist, was as charming as a Barrie heroine ought to be. Jay Wolfe, as the complacent Harry Sims, was convincing in his stolid lack of understanding, and Mrs. Sims, played by Miss Jessie Bloomfield, was wistful to just the right degree. The Shaar Hashomayim Concert Orchestra, which played in public for the first time, was indeed a revelation. The three numbers rendered, Stradella Overture, Valse Rose and Waltz Lucille, were delightful in their softness and beauty. To Mr. Louis King, the conductor, goes much credit for the initial success of the orchestra. Too much cannot be said of the indefatigable efforts of the musical director, Dr. P. J. Illsley, F.R.P.O., Miss Hyalie Freeman, the dramatic coach, and of the work of Mr. Leo Livingstone, and Mr. Leo Bramson and of the executive which is made up of Mrs. Moe N. Fineberg, Mrs Leo Bramson, Mrs. Sidney Levitt and Mr. Jay Wolfe.

Miss Pasha Abell, the gifted mezzo-soprano, gave a concert of Jewish folk-songs at the Gayety Theatre last Sunday afternoon. Assisting her were Mayer Stein-Wortzel, a tenor of promise, and Master Avvom Sand, 'cellist. Miss Abell displayed a voice of rare sweetness and charm that possessed both depth of expression and power. She sang without effort, carrying her audience with her into the spirit of her delightful repertoire of folk-lore. In the "Bird Song" and a "Cradle Song" she was at her best, the soothing sweetness of the latter melody bringing out the rich quality of her voice. Mr. Stein-Wortzel sings his folk-songs with a quaint plaintiveness that brings home the thought behind the tune. He has a voice that is a fine combination of strength and tenderness, and has an excellent sense of expression. His "Cheder Song," "Song of the Road" and "Deep in the Woods" were particularly beautiful. Master A. Sand, the 'cellist, who was accompanied by his young sister, Bluma Sand, played three selections with skill and sympathy. His rendering of "Jewish Tears" showed understanding. Miss Abell, who was formerly a resident of Montreal, will shortly return to New York to continue her studies. She is making a thorough study of the Jewish folk-lore, but although her voice is excellently well adapted for grand opera, she is planning to continue with concert work. Mr. Stein-Wortzel is at present studying with Mr. Vanderpol. Both artists have big things before them.

The fourth annual luncheon of the Montreal Council of Jewish Women will be held in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, on Tuesday, May 29. The Council has secured the services of Miss Elizabeth Gutman, of Baltimore, Md., as soloist for this occasion. Miss Gutman is a famous soprano who is devoting her talent particularly to the singing of quaint folk-songs, and was most favourably received in Washington recently. Those who wish may have tables especially arranged for groups of four or eight. Mrs. M. C. Ginsberg, 484 Wood Avenue, telephone Westmount 4366, is convenor of tickets.

The last general meeting of the season of the Local Council of Jewish Women was held on May 17, at 2.30 p.m., in the Shaar Hashomayim Synagog. Business matters of all kinds were wound up nicely. The chairmen of the various committees read their reports which showed that the work for the year was particularly satisfactory. It was with the greatest regret that the Council has been forced to accept the resignations of the following officers who have so ably served the community during their term of office: Mrs. S. W. Jacobs, President; Mrs. I. Cohen, 2nd Vice-Pres.; Mrs. V. Michaels, 3rd Vice-Pres.; Mrs. D. Tannenbaum, Rec.-Sec. The following were elected to office for the ensuing year: Hon. Pres. Mrs. S. W. Jacobs; Pres., Mrs. O. L. Kerner; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. M. C. Ginsberg; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. P. Glickman; 3rd Vice-Pres., Mrs. J. A. Jacobs; 4th Vice-Pres., Mrs. Paul Saks; Rec. Sec., Mrs. Jay Wolfe; Cor. Sec., Mrs. R. Pierce; Treas., Mrs. Al Lerser.

The Temple Emanu-El Sisterhood has elected the following ladies to hold office during the coming year: Pres., Mrs. Gus Fischel; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. O. A. Kerner; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. George Goldstein; Rec. Sec., Miss Dorothy Goldenberg; Cor. Sec., Mrs. Robert Doyer; Treas., Mrs. Moe Silver.

Mr. Harris Wetstein is the manager of the famous ladies' bowling team which won a victory from a challenging team on May 15, at the Windsor Bowling Alley. The team which was coached by Mr. Harris Wetstein and Mr. Harold Neumann was made up of the following ladies: Miss Fanny Viner, Miss Esther Levvitt, Miss Bertha Neumann, Miss Fanny Ratner, Miss Goldie Louis.

Vienna (J. T. A.)—Moishe Nagler, an official of the Jewish Burial Society, is being tried for appropriating a thousand tachrichem (shrouds), the property of the society, and selling them as linen.
